How local businesses can support our work to help homeless people in Exeter

Sadly, homelessness in Exeter remains at critically high levels, with the number of people on the streets forced to sleep rough typically between 25-35, on any given night.

There are many reasons for homelessness. However, it usually has its roots in a traumatic childhood, or some other traumatic event such as a relationship breakdown. In recent years, this has been compounded by the loss of many key support services vital for preventing homelessness, a growing housing and cost of living crisis. The cumulative impact of these factors is visible every day on the streets of Exeter and sadly, things may get worse before they get better.

We long to see the day when everyone has a place to call home and everything we do is with this objective in mind.

At St Petrock's, we love to work in genuine partnership with businesses who share our vision. To find out more, just get in contact and let's talk!

St Petrock's is Exeter's local homelessness charity. Supported by the local community, we stand with and for people experiencing homelessness, and will not give up until everyone in the Exeter area can enjoy a place called home.
